Treasury Wants To Get Gold
—Heavy Fine Faced
By Hoarders

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Dec. 29.—Big hoarders of gold are the objectives of the treasury's new drive to impound this metal, Acting Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau said today.

"We are not so much concerned about the little fellow but have reason to believe several million dollars in gold is lying around in the banks or otherwise hoarded, owned by persons who did not take the original order seriously," Morgenthau said.

"There is nothing behind the new order except the fact that the treasury wants to get the gold. Many felt that the $10,000 fine provided in the original order was insufficient, some larger hoarders of gold would rather pay the fine and keep the gold. However, where the penalty is double the amount of gold held, the situation becomes different from the gold hoarder's standpoint."

Treasury Means Business.

Morgenthau described the treasury's action as "a mopping up at the end of the year." He added the treasury "means business."

PA NEW OBSERVES

There will be no issue of The New Castle News on Monday, New Year's Day.

Pa New observes that skating is good in many places in the city and nearby yesterday and today. Quite a number of youths were skating on the Neshannock at the foot of Croton hill where there is a considerable stretch of smooth ice. Skating is also good on most of the lakes and ponds in the vicinity.

While the minimum temperature, during the 24-hour period ending at 9 o'clock this morning is shown as three below zero, this mark was recorded Thursday morning, when the thermometer was set. The lowest temperature during the night was close to that figure, however, according to reports.

Thermometers this morning seemed to have decided to do a little co-operating. Several in widely scattered sections of the city agreed that the temperature was zero about 8 o'clock this morning.

Pa New is convinced that a lot of New Castle streets are being used by coasters as a result of an auto trip around the city last night. A majority of the streets which afford a place for coasting were being used, in some parts of the city.

And, by the way, wouldn't it be possible to provide a few coasting places in some of the city parks, or couldn't some hillsides immediately adjoining the city be designated for coasting? Sledding doesn't necessarily have to be done on a street.

Some skating enthusiasts had a bon-fire under the North street bridge over the Neshannock creek (Continued on Page Two)

SUB-ZERO WAVE REACHES NEW YORK

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Dec. 29.—On the crest of stinging northwest winds, record-breaking cold gripped New York and the northeast seaboard today, sending the mercury down to an official low of two below zero here at 8:30 a. m.

Unofficial readings of thermometers in the city and suburbs showed even lower temperatures, with the mercury standing at 6 below zero at nearby Paulsboro, N. J., and at 5 below in adjacent Westchester county and western Connecticut.

Update New York was turned into an Arctic region with the mercury nose-diving to 21 below zero at Auburn and ranging from 15 to 20 below at various points through the Adirondacks and along the Canadian border.

Break 11-Year Record.

The drop in New York shattered a record of 11 years standing. Last time the thermometer dropped to 2 below zero here was on Feb. 17, 1922. Previous records were set on Feb. 1, 1920, when the thermometer showed 3 below and the record low for this date was set in 1917, when a 6 below zero cold was recorded.

As the temperature dropped swiftly, reports were received here that (Continued on Page Two)

BUENOS AIRES, Dec. 29.—(Via telephone to New York)—A revolutionary movement accompanied by considerable bloodshed broke out today in various provincial cities of Argentina.

The chief points of the uprising were the cities of Santa Fe and Rosario. The rebels were reported to have taken the government buildings at Santa Fe and fighting was under way in the streets of Rosario.

The government ordered a fleet of airplanes dispatched immediately from Parana Airport to Santa Fe. Airmen were reported under instructions to bomb the city if necessary to subdue the rebels.

Martin Gantz Site Urged For Court House

More and more there seems to be a public demand that the new court house be located on the site of the old Martin Gantz school which is being torn down at the present time. The sentiment seems to be that if the court house is removed from its present site, it should not be placed upon a site that would be removed from the list of taxables.

The site of the old Martin Gantz school is owned by the New Castle School district and of course is tax free. Hence if it were taken over by the county commissioners for a court house site no taxes would be lost to the people. In addition, the purchase price of the site would be turned in to the school district and applied to school expenses, thus saving the taxpayers whatever amount was paid.

Geographically the Martin Gantz site is well situated for a court house. It is just a few minutes walk from any attorney's office in the city, would have room for parking for jurors and witnesses, and would be seen by tourists coming into the city.

Will Start Work On More Projects

Work will be started on some of the school projects on New Year's Day, it was stated today in the CWA offices. The work of pointing the Thaddeus Stevens Building, laying out a playground for Rose avenue and remodeling the basement of the West Side school are listed for Monday, January 1.

Work on Gunton Park will start Saturday morning the call for labor having been made and the orders to report sent out. Today over 1500 men and women are at work in CWA projects and by Tuesday, January 2 this will have been increased to about 1750.

Old Man Winter blew his icy breath across Pennsylvania today sending the mercury far below zero in many points and forcing it to 36 degrees below at Tobyhanna.

Cold weather records fell on all sides as wintry blasts brought misery and suffering to many. In addition, the weatherman was none too comforting with his forecast. He predicted only slightly rising temperatures with snow possibly tonight and Saturday.

Suffering and general hardships joined hands with death. Coal bins felt winter's touch and welfare institutions were rushed with demands for food and shelter.

Old Records Fall.

Mount Pocono reported 32 below zero. A 15-year-old record fell at Kane when the thermometer sank to 23 degrees below. Lewis Run in Franklin county and Pocono Lake in Monroe county shivered under readings of 22 below. A reading of 20 was reported from Cherry Valley in eastern Pennsylvania.

Helen Gaca, 12, of Sharpsburg, was burned to death when she sought the heat of a gas stove.

Dalton White, 8, of Marmarth, rode to death on a sled that hit a locomotive.

An unidentified man was found on a vacant lot, the victim of exposure, in Philadelphia.

Coasting accidents and automobile mishaps, bringing serious injuries in many cases, were numerous. Pennsylvania's highways remained open but slippery and hazardous in the majority of cases.

Other points reporting the mercury below the zero mark were: St. Marys, 19; Carbondale, 18;

Western Senators Form Silver Bloc

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON
International News Service Staff

WASHINGTON, Dec. 29.—A congressional drive to renege silver got under way today when a group of western senators met at the call of Senator Burton K. Wheeler (D) of Montana, to organize a senate silver bloc.

The primary purpose of the movement was to secure a mandate from congress for renegeization of silver at the ratio of 16 to 1, which the late William Jennings Bryan made historic three decades ago. The silverites appeared unsatisfied by the action of congress last summer in giving President Roosevelt the discretionary power to renegeize silver. They demand conclusive action by congress.

The silverites meanwhile announced the government had accepted $11,367,412 in silver payments from debtor nations in the past six months. This consisted of 2,734,824 ounces of silver, at a value of fifty cents an ounce. They added the silver would be used as the basis for issuing about $11,000,000 in silver certificates, paper money, within the next few days.

Among those invited to the conference by Wheeler were Senators (Continued on Page Two)

ROOSEVELT'S TALK CHEERS SOUTH AMERICA

Friendship Will Be Strengthened

No Armed Intervention Is Policy Of U. S. President Announces

ALSO SAYS U. S. IS NOT TO JOIN LEAGUE

WASHINGTON, Dec. 29.—South America today had new assurance from President Roosevelt of this government's sincere desire to strengthen the bonds of friendship with the nations of this hemisphere while Europe had definite notice the United States intends to keep out of the League of Nations.

In one of the most important declarations on foreign policy made since he entered the White House, President Roosevelt, in an address last night before a dinner of the Woodrow Wilson Foundation at the Mayflower Hotel, declared the "definite policy of the United States from now on is one opposed to armed intervention."

No League Membership

At the same time, the president declared the United States, while willing to cooperate with the League of Nations, does not contemplate membership in that body.

Although giving the League due credit for its social work in the international field, what little peace work it has accomplished, Mr. Roosevelt bitterly assailed the political intrigue which marked its birth.

Declaring the blame for the danger to world peace lies not in the world population but in the political leaders of that population, President Roosevelt recalled the "gallant appeal" made by the late President Woodrow Wilson to the masses of the world to banish war.

The masses, he said, were stirred as never before by Wilson's appeal but, he added, it "meant little to the imagination or the hearts of a large number of the so-called statesmen who gathered in Paris to assemble a treaty of so-called peace in 1919."

League Handicapped

"I saw that with my own eyes and heard that with my own ears," he added. "Political profit, personal prestige, national aggrandizement attended the birth of the League of Nations and handicapped it from its infancy by seeking their own profit and their own safety first."

"I believe I express the views of my countrymen when I state that the old policies, alliances, combinations and balances of power have proved themselves inadequate for the preservation of world peace."

Concerning our international relations, the president outlined a three point program. It was:

1. Let every nation agree to eliminate over a short period every weapon of offense;
2. A simple declaration that no nation will permit any of its armed forces to cross its own borders into territory of another nation;
3. No general agreement for the elimination of aggression and of weapons of offensive warfare would be of any value to the world unless every nation entered into the agreement by solemn obligation. If such an agreement were signed by a great majority of the nations, it would be a comparatively easy matter to determine which nations are willing to go on record as belonging to that small minority which still believes in the sword for invasion.

League Has Place

Despite the political intrigue which has surrounded the League, the president said the fact it serves as a common meeting place and encourages non-aggression facts makes it a "prop in the world peace structure."

Therefore, he said, the United States would cooperate in every matter which is not primarily political but, he added, "we are not members and we do not contemplate membership."

Regarding a direct reference to Japan's imperialistic actions in the Far East, the president said that leadership representing ten per cent of the peoples of the world was behind the threat to peace.

Ninety per cent of the people of the world desire peace, Mr. Roosevelt observed as he continued:

"Back of the threat to world peace lies the fear and perhaps even the possibility that the other ten per cent of the people may go along with a leadership which seeks territorial expansion at the expense of neighbors and which under various pleas in avoidance are unwilling to reduce armament or stop rearmament even if everybody else agrees to non-aggression and to arms reduction."

"If this ten per cent can be persuaded by the other ninety per cent to do their own thinking and not be led, we will have practical peace, permanent peace, a real peace throughout the world."

The president paid tribute to the progress made for better understanding among the republics of North and South America at the Pan-American conference which, he said, has resulted in better feeling than has existed for a generation.

Referring to President Wilson's declaration of 1913 that "the United States will never again seek one additional foot of territory by conquest," President Roosevelt declared:

"The time has come to supplement and to implement the declaration of President Wilson by the further declaration that the definite policy of the United States from now on is one opposed to armed intervention."

In this connection, the president added:

"The maintenance of constitutional government in other nations is not a sacred obligation devolving upon the United States alone. The maintenance of law and the orderly processes of government in this hemisphere is the concern of each individual nation within its own borders first of all."

"It is only if and when the failure of orderly processes affects the other nations of the continent that it becomes their concern; and the point to stress is that in such an event it becomes the joint concern of a whole continent in which we are all neighbors."

Percy S. Straus, president R. H. Macy & Co.—The volume of retail business in 1934 will depend on the ability of the consumer to pay the prices resulting from the increased costs of production, manufacturing, and distribution.

Many Important Factors

As of today, these prices have been advanced far more than has the income of the consumer. Therefore, the outlook for retail business for 1934 depends on one of three factors:

First: to what extent the trend of advancing prices may be slowed down;

Second: to what extent business revival may continue and lead to larger consumer purchasing power; and

Third: whether there is latent consumer buying power which has not been effective owing to lack of confidence.

Bernard F. Gimbel, president Gimbel Brothers, Inc.—I am convinced that there will be a betterment of business conditions during the coming year. There is now a definite commitment by the government for the purchase of steel and other basic commodities to be used in the public works program, which is now well under way.

Retail Sales Spurt

Added to this improvement, there has been a decided spurt in the past few months in retail sales.

General Motors Corp.—Irrespective of how we may react individually to the various economic proposals of the year, dramatic as they have been and full of possibilities in their influence on our future, to my mind one fact rises above the mass of conjecture, theories and experiments that we have before us.

That fact is the world at large has materially improved its position and has been improving it for over a year.

Gerard Swope, president General Electric Co.—The problem of today is to have a greater revival in the capital goods industry, which has felt the increase but little, and with all the experiments that are being made and the hopeful and constructive attitude being shown, we are looking forward with confidence that 1934 will be a better year than 1933 in employment and in industry.

Colby M. Chester, president General Foods Corp.—A review of the food industry for the year just ended shows that the industry was able to make an increasingly important contribution to the stability of general business conditions.

At the beginning of the year a government index on employment in food processing plants stood at 79.6, while at the end of the third quarter it had advanced to 93.9. A substantial increase in payrolls during this period was also indicated.

Business Increasing

David Sarnoff, president Radio Corp. of America—American industry faces 1934 with the confidence that many of the readjustments and transitions of the past year will have lasting influence and value.

Ray B. White, president Western Union Telegraph Co.—The communication business follows the trend of business generally and inasmuch as business is showing some improvement we feel the early part of the year will show some increase over previous year, about in keeping with the present trend.

Auto Outlook Good

P. W. Litchfield, president Good-year Tire and Rubber Co.—The tire industry has better prospects for 1934. New car sales are likely to improve and this would call for more tires for original equipment.

The new code for the industry gives hope that we will find a measure of relief from the evils of rampant price-cutting and other destructive practices of the past. Then, too, the expected improvement in general business conditions will be reflected in the tire industry.

Joseph Wilshire, president Standard Brands, Inc.—While I see nothing spectacular in the horizon, I feel the outlook is for a steady gain in business which, even if small, seems to be substantial and permanent.

Low Point Reached

Thomas S. Holden, vice-president in charge of statistics and research, P. W. Dodge Corp.—The construction industry faces the new year with strong assurance that the extreme low point of the depression is behind it. Contracts awarded in the 37 eastern states during the first half of 1933 were 35 per cent less in volume than in the first half of the preceding year; the second half year ran about 20 per cent ahead of the second half of 1932.

A. W. Robertson, chairman, Westinghouse Electric & Manufacturing Co.—Business this year is about equal to that of last year and next year should show some substantial improvement, we expect general business conditions to improve.

Robert C. Stanley, president, International Nickel Co. of Canada, Ltd.—Analysis of the nickel market for 1933 discloses that it has apparent benefitted from the recent years of depression.

World consumption of nickel in all forms for the first ten months of 1933 was 77,609,280 pounds, as compared with slightly more than 43,500,000 pounds in the same period of 1932 and with the 112,481,600 pounds of the corresponding part of the peak year, 1929.

Much To Be Thankful For

James Brown, president, Chamber of Commerce of the state of New York—Looking back to a year ago, we have much to be thankful for as we enter 1934. We have made real progress, despite the influences and conditions which many of us felt were retarding recovery. When the balance for 1933 is struck, however, we find that while some of the things we hoped for have not come to pass, neither have some of the things we most feared materialized.

Arthur Lehman, Lehman Brothers—It seems clear that the disastrous spell of depression has been broken. Looking forward to 1934, it would seem that we have the right to anticipate a continuation of the improvement in business, at least for the major portion of the year.

Confidence Regained

Thomas J. Watson, president, International Business Machines Corp.—The approach of the new year 1934 is an occasion for true optimism. The twelve-month just closing we have seen fear conquered by confidence. We have seen unemployment greatly lessened. We have seen industry rise from virtual prostration and start forward again.

P. G. Johnson, president, United Aircraft & Transport Corp.—During 1933 business actually showed very little improvement but, psychologically the improvement has been marked.

The year witnessed a continued advance in aeronautics.

strictions in imports were blamed, but the board said the deficiency would be eliminated as rapidly as possible.

BLOODSHED IN ARGENTINE AS REVOLT OCCURS

rebel capture of post offices in the towns of Panama de Gomez and Albari. Several government employees were killed in the fighting.

Latest advices indicated that San-te Fe was entirely in rebel hands.

Precaution Taken

Extensive precautionary measures were taken by the government of President Augustin Justo as soon as the revolutionary outbreak became known.

Hundreds of arrests were made in Buenos Aires and other cities during the early hours of the morning and all police and military reserves were called to duty.

General Alarm

The apparently widespread nature of the disturbances caused general apprehension throughout the republic. An ironclad censorship was clamped down on all outgoing cable and telegraphic messages by the government.

The uprising followed conclusion of a radical party meeting at Santa Fe presided over by Senor Marcelo De Alvera, noted liberal leader.

Army Involved

Small sections of the army were reported involved, but the extent to which the movement has penetrated the ranks of the military could not be ascertained.

At the present time, it is impossible to gauge either the actual importance of the uprising or the ability of the government to cope with it.

OBEYING THE CODES

ACCORDING to General Johnson, only 48 employers out of a total of approximately 3,000,000 who accepted the blue eagle regulations have had their insignias taken away.

The record is one that speaks well for American industry and is evidence of a spirit of co-operation for the common good that should command public commendation. Not all of the concerns that signed up under the blue eagle did so in the belief that the national recovery act represented the best method of fighting the depression. Some of them even may have had serious doubts as to the wisdom and effectiveness of the innovation. But they were ready to yield their individual opinion and to join hands with the more optimistic business interests in an experiment that had the support of a large share of public opinion.

Chiseling has developed, as was predicted at the time the act went into effect and as is shown by the announcement that blue eagles have been taken from 48 code signers. It is unlikely that all of those who have failed to live up to their obligations have been detected and punished. But the number of violators evidently is small compared to the total of those who signed codes.

Continued support of the recovery act in the same proportion as that indicated by General Johnson should give the recovery act a chance to demonstrate beyond doubt its value in bringing prosperity back to the nation. The manner in which the codes have been observed to date should prove a source of gratification to all who believe in NRA as well as to skeptics.

JAPAN'S AMBASSADOR

Despite the fact that the United States and Japan at present are on better terms than they were not many months ago, no student of conditions in the Far East can escape the conviction that underneath this surface calm currents are stirring that threaten disturbance to the relations between these two nations.

Just when and where serious controversy may occur can not be predicted. There are many points where the interests of the two powers touch. The United States is desirous of avoiding friction with Japan, and the latter, according to its officials, harbors a similar desire. This, however, is no assurance that the two countries will not become involved in disagreements which may or may not reach serious proportions.

America has in Tokyo an ambassador in the person of Joseph C.
Grew who has proved himself an able diplomat. He understands the Japanese viewpoint and has done much in smoothing the relations between his own country and Japan.

It is encouraging to note that Japan has chosen as her new ambassador to the United States a man who promises, in equipment and training, to render equally valuable service here in serving the common cause of peace. Hiroshi Saito is well known in the United States, where he was for several years Japanese consul general in New York and later charge d'affaires in Washington.

Mr. Saito and Mr. Grew are the right men in the right place. Working together they should be able to render important service in maintaining peaceful relations between the two nations by harmonizing their viewpoints on controversial issues.

MANY CONGRESS CHANGES

During the last year there have been no less than 13 deaths and nine resignations among members of congress, a record number of changes from these causes in a similar period.

Members who have died were Senators Walsh of Montana, Howell of Nebraska, Dale of Vermont, and Kendrick of Wyoming; Representatives Garrett and Briggs of Texas, Brand of Georgia, Kemp of Louisiana, Almon of Alabama, Watson of Pennsylvania, Horner of West Virginia, and Clarke and Parker of New York.

Those who resigned were Hull of Tennessee, to become secretary of state; Swanson of Virginia, to become secretary of the navy; Bratton of New Mexico, Ragon of Arkansas and Major of Illinois, to become federal judges; Garner of Texas to become vice president, Douglas of Arizona to become director of the budget, and Gibson of Vermont to become a senator.

The year's congressional death rate of 13 out of 531 members is about double the death rate of the general population, which is approximately 11 out of 1000.

DISILLUSIONMENT

Just a year ago perhaps even more recently, that new car for the purchase of which the old relic of 1930 was the down payment, represented the last word in the motor-car makers' art. It was the latest thing and looked like the last and best. By comparison with everything that had gone before it, it was motorcar perfection.

The lines of the streamline body, the color combination, the chromium plate, the performance, the equipment, the endurance qualities of that marvel of motordom convinced the owner that his automobile wants were satisfied for at least five years, for the industry could not possibly improve upon it within that time and nothing could antiquate it for at least a decade.

But January comes and the automobile industry decides to hold a show. That meant producing something to show. Presto change! Hundreds of 1934 models that put the proudest product of 1933 in a class with the short skirts.

The satisfied owner of a 1933 model will come out of the automobile show the dissatisfied prospect for a 1934 model, convinced that if he can make a good trade his car needs for another five years will be fulfilled. And so arrival at the saturation point in automobile ownership is postponed another year.

All Of Us

BY MARSHALL MASLIN

ARE YOUNG PEOPLE POLITE?

A committee has been investigating the young people of the country and has decided that the boys and girls are not polite.

They put their elbows on the table.
They butter a whole slice of bread
before eating it.

They talk about their operations
during meals.
They whistle.
And that's not all.

But are you upset? Does this report excite you? Does it make you wonder if the country is going to wrack and ruin?

My own answer to all three questions is NO. What are your answers?

What I really want to know about those young people is:

Are they kind?
Are they good sports?
Can they take it on the chin?
Will they help a blind man across the street?

If they make a promise will they keep it?

If they get into trouble do they whine—or do they take their medicine?

Do they lie?
Do they think for themselves?
Have they consideration for the other fellow?

Are they brave?
Do they grab or do they share?
What do they think of other people?

What do they believe?
And what do they want to do with their lives?

These, seems to me, are important questions. And the qualities revealed by their answers are the only real basis of any politeness worth talking about. The little politenesses are helpful; they simplify life and ease the strain of human relationship. But they aren't fundamentally important. . . . What do YOU think?

HOME COOPERATION

If you are the one about your house who is trying to beautify it and its premises, you know what it means not to have the cooperation of others in your family.

In nearly all homes there are those who are energetic in their efforts to improve and keep up the surroundings.

Usually there are others who make little effort to add to its beauty or its comfort.

To which class do you belong?
You appreciate the effect of a neatly kept house and well looked after yard.

You are even willing to comment favorably and extensively on the general pleasing effect the others have produced.

Thus far you go and no farther.
You would not deny yourself a pleasure, or use any of your leisure time essential to bring about and keep up improvements.

In fact you are careless to the extent that you make it harder for the willing workers to retain the spio and span appearance they seek and retain.

It is mighty discouraging to home-loving persons, not to have the willing help of all, to make the home and grounds attractively beautiful.

"I can readily believe what you say," remarked another visitor. "For
I know what hens will do sometimes.
But that doesn't come up to a club-footed hen my grandmother once sawdust instead of corn. Well, sir, she laid 12 eggs and sat on them

Drivers Must Give Data On All Accidents

Applicants For Driver's Licenses Must Tell Of Any Accident In Year

HARRISBURG, Pa., Dec. 29.—Every Pennsylvania motorist who has been involved in an accident during the twelve months prior to applying for 1934 operators licenses must give details on the application card, even though the damage amounted to but a few cents.

This interpretation by the Department of Revenue of what is required by the State in answering the accident question on the application for new operator licenses was given today by the Pennsylvania Motor Federation, A. A. A., in a statement setting forth what it terms "some pertinent facts every motorist should know about the State's financial responsibility law that goes into effect January 1."

The Federation explained that a driver does not come within the scope of the new act unless he has figured in two or more accidents in which personal injury has been inflicted, or property damage of more than $200 done, but he must give the State the data on any accident even though the loss inflicted was trifling.

The question on the 1934 applications, which will be mailed by the Department of Revenue to all licensed operators early in January, is as follows: "Were you involved in any accidents within or outside of this State while operating a motor vehicle during the twelve months preceding this application for license?" If the applicant had no accident he answers "No" and goes no further, but if he figured in one or more crashes during the preceding twelve months he must write "Yes" and then give details on the opposite side of the card.

"Persons who attempt to cover up their accident record by knowingly failing to give correct information regarding accidents when applying for licenses," the State motoring body warned, "are subject to a two-year revocation of their operating privilege and at the end of that time must furnish proof of financial responsibility."

Among other "pertinent facts" listed by the Federation are: "In computing the total damages for two or more accidents the damage to the operator's car or injury to himself is not included. It is only the damage to the other fellow in excess of $200 that brings him under the law."

"A single accident in which damage exceeds $200 does not bring an operator under the act, for the law specifically states that proof of financial responsibility is required if the operator figured in two or more accidents."

"An operator who owns or has access to several cars must furnish only one proof if he comes within the scope of the law."

"Truck drivers, chauffeurs and salesmen must file proof as individuals; they cannot meet the requirements of the act with policies issued to their employers."

"If two operators are joint owners of the same car or cars, only the operator whose accident record has brought him under the provisions of the act must file proof of financial responsibility."

"Judgments awarded in 1934 as the result of accidents in '33 do not place an owner under the act."

The Life Of Paul

"Brass Tacks" On The Sunday School Lesson

(The International Uniform Lesson on the above topic for Dec. 31 is Philippians 3:1-14, the Golden Text being II Timothy, 4:7, "I have fought the good fight, I have finished my course, I have kept the faith.")

By DR. ALVIN E. BELL
NEW YEAR'S DAY should compel us to make something of the same sort of inventory of our spiritual accounts and resources, as we are accustomed to make in our material affairs at this season. What would our spiritual balance sheet look like? Paul gives us such a spiritual audit of his life in this lesson. It is an autobiography in the form of a profit and loss statement replete with such bookkeeping expressions as "What things were gained," "these have I counted loss," "I count all things to be loss," "that I may gain Christ."

The Peril of the Christian

The business of being a Christian requires caution. We must beware whose "goods" we take in. So Paul warns his Philippians friends: "Beware of the dogs, beware of the evil workers, beware of the concision." These spiritual peddlers of a type of religion which overemphasized ceremonialism had dogged Paul's steps wherever he went, and were now troubling the Philippians. Paul once carried a heavy stock of their goods and "counted them gain" to him, but now "counted them loss." What were these things Paul once counted assets but now counts liabilities? They were his pride of race and place: "circumcised the eighth day, of the stock of Israel, of the tribe of Benjamin, a Hebrew of the Hebrews; as touching the law, a Pharisee; as touching zeal, persecuting the church; as touching the righteousness which is in the law, found blameless." But he wrote them all off as capital losses after he found Christ: "Howbeit what things were gain to me, these have I counted loss for Christ. Yea, verily and I count all things to be loss for the excellency of the knowledge of Christ Jesus my Lord; for whom I suffered, the loss of all things, and do count them but refuse, that I may gain Christ." Thus did Paul deflate the things which once were his most prized possessions spiritually.

The Profit of the Christian

Christ was his richest treasure now because through faith in him he was assured of being credited with the very righteousness of God, "the righteousness which is of God by faith." Furthermore, Christ had become the power of a new life in Paul both to serve actively and to suffer passively: "That I may know him, and the power of his resurrection, and the fellowship of his sufferings." His profit lay not only in the things of this life but in the hope of the life to come: "If by any means I may attain unto the resurrection from the dead." In

The Golden Text

II Timothy 4:7—"I have fought the good fight, I have finished my course, I have kept the faith."

Christ Paul also found his greatest inspiration to realize the ideal and plan God had for his life: "That I may apprehend that for which I was apprehended by Christ Jesus." Of what greater riches can one dream than these Paul finds to his credit on the profit side of his spiritual ledger?

The Progress of the Christian

But however great may be Paul's present profit as a Christian, his religion is not static, but an ever growing, going, glowing religion of progress, ever pressing onward to more glorious experiences and achievements: "I count not myself yet to have apprehended; but one thing I do, forgetting the things which are behind, and stretching forward to the things which are before, I press on toward the goal undisturbed by the prize of the high calling of God in Christ Jesus. No better motto or more appropriate can be suggested for us as we stand at the threshold of the New Year 1934!

President Roosevelt
Is Sent Broom Made
Here By Mr. Bassett

Wonderful Example Of Utility
And Art And Will Stand
Without Hitching

President Franklin D. Roosevelt ought to be able to make a clean sweep of almost anything he undertakes upon receipt of a wonderful broom which Monroe Bassett of the New Bedford road, near Scotland Lane, sent him today. Mr. Bassett is a broom maker and the broom sent President Roosevelt is a masterpiece of utility and art.

It is decorated with all the national colors, red, white and blue, and bears an approved NRA sticker, and will stand without hitching. All you have to do is to set the broom down on the floor and it will remain upright. This is due to uniformity in construction and the fact that the bottom of the broom has been squarely trimmed.

The broom has a blue handle. The wire wrapping extends from the broom corn up the handle about ten inches. The wrapping is decorated with beautiful velvet bands, and has the initials of the president worked in the wire. There is a NRA sticker near the center and there are a half dozen silk tassels in red, white and blue.

Mr. Bassett used extraordinary care in selecting the broom corn. In every head of broom corn there are two or three straws from hundreds of heads for the Roosevelt broom. Asked how long it took him to make the broom Mr. Bassett estimated that he had put in fully three days on it. Mr. Bassett is a broom-maker of the old school, having worked at the trade for over 50 years. He was formerly employed at a factory in Grove City, and has worked many other places. At present he has a little shop of his own where he still carries on his trade.

Burns Healed Without Leaving A Scar

San Cura Ointment Should Be
In Every Home

There never was known a more reliable ointment than San Cura. In many cases where it has been used it has caused astonishment. "My sister was burned last winter when putting coal oil on a deadened fire and the flames burst out into her face. We used nothing but San Cura and didn't even have a physician, and in almost an incredibly short time her face was perfectly healed without a scar. It is the finest thing for burns that I have ever seen. Have also used it for other things. Just lately an infected toe and shortly it was healed." Hattie S. Pitts, 18 Iowa Circle, Washington, D. C. Try San Cura for Bruises, Cuts, Frost Bites, Stings of insects, Sunburn, Piles and Eczema. It relieves the pain and is antiseptic and healing. It's a medicine chest in itself—a little family physician that is ever in demand. 35c, 60c and $1.25 a jar at drug stores.

"One of the main causes of paralysis," says the SPRINGFIELD UNION, "has lain in the strict penalties for errors or misstatements in reports or prospectuses of companies liability in this regard extending to corporation directors, security dealers, and salesmen. The law has put investment bankers in such uncomfortable position that they have refused to take risks."

IT is contended by the WALL STREET JOURNAL that "injury to the credit and earnings power of a corporation spreads through almost the entire population, through the medium of the savings bank, the insurance company and similar institutional investors," and that, "rightly or wrongly, there is a strong body of opinion that certain features of the Securities Act of 1933 are among the most important obstacles to a more rapid recuperation of business."

Crossing Threshold Of New Era, Women Told By Roosevelt

Mrs. Grace Morrison Poole,
President Of General
Federation Of Women,
en, Receives Letter

President Thanks Women Of United States For Cooperation In Recovery Drive

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Dec. 29.—President Roosevelt feels that "we have crossed the threshold of a new era" as the new year dawns, he said in a letter addressed to Mrs. Grace Morrison Poole, president of the General Federation of Women's clubs, which will appear in the forthcoming issue of the federation's magazine.

The letter follows:
"White House,
Washington,
Dec. 14, 1933.
"My Dear Mrs. Poole:
"The dawn of a new year always is a challenge. It suggests new opportunities. It is characterized by inventories, accountings of past performances, making of new estimates and resolutions.

"We enter upon the new year with the realization that we have the opportunity of improving conditions and making our country a better home, materially and spiritually for more than 120,000,000 people. To do this will require the concerted aid and continued effort of many forces of governments, federal, state and local, of social, spiritual, industrial and financial agencies.

Splendid Cooperation
"I welcome this opportunity to express my thanks for the splendid cooperation which you and the members of the general federation of women's clubs have given to me and the government. Your support of the measures initiated by the government to end the terrible depressions and to establish social justice and economic security for all of our people has been and is a real influence for the good we have been able to accomplish.

"I ask that we men and women of the present and the new generations continue to work together with such united effort we can attain strength and force necessary to cure existing ills and give us a new national health and prosperity.

"Very sincerely yours,
"Franklin D. Roosevelt."

Girl, Thirteen, Has Confessed Brutal Slaying

Mary Kavala, 13, Of White
Plains, N. Y., Kills Her
Young Playmate

(International News Service)
WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., Dec. 29.—"I did it."
"Jose told lies about me and my family. I lost my temper. I did it."

With those half-defiant, half-frightened statements confronting them like gruesome fragments of a nightmare, Westchester county officials today prepared to renew questioning of 13-year-old Mary Kavala who climaxed a four-day series of testimony with the admission that she had murdered Josephine Woropay, her 8-year-old playmate and neighbor in Hastings-on-Hudson.

Girl Confesses
The startling solution of one of the most brutal murders in the annals of the county came from Mary after she had inferentially laid the slaying at the foot of one man or another in the Polish settlement near where the children lived and hinted at orgies, "dope parties" and other fantastic explanations for the crime.

Persistent questioning by District Attorney Frank H. Coyne and his assistant, William Horan brought the "break" in the case which had puzzled authorities for nearly a week.

ASSOCIATION WILL PLAN CONFERENCE AT DINNER MEETING

The regular monthly meeting of the Executive Committee of the Lawrence County Sabbath School Association will be in the nature of a noon dinner meeting at the First Christian church, Thursday January 4 at 12:15 p. m.

After dinner the members will take up plans for the Mid-Year Efficiency Conference which is to be especially stressed this year.

It is the purpose of the Mid-Year Efficiency Conference this year to outline the work for the various districts and to make other plans that will give the county, the districts, and the various schools a high rating for the year that ends with the County Convention next June.

Ford's Status Regarding NRA Awaits Ruling

Johnson May Cite Ford To Federal Trade Commission And Attorney General

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Dec. 29.—Recovery Administrator Hugh S. Johnson today announced that charges of code violation filed against the Ford Motor company by the American Federation of Labor were "not supported by affidavit."

He said he had been informed of this by W. H. Davis, national compliance director, charged with investigating the violations alleged in Ford's treatment of strikers at assembly plants in Chester, Pa., and Edgewater, N. J.

Johnson said Davis is proceeding with the investigation, however, and with the use of reports in the case submitted to the national labor board by observers sent to the scenes of the strike, will attempt to make a decision about Ford's status.

Johnson said he will cite Ford to the federal trade commission and the attorney general in case Davis makes such recommendations.

Administration Is Not Worried By Opposition

Controversial Battles Will Be Fought During Coming Congress Session

OPPOSITION IS TO BE EXPECTED

Tax Fight Will Probably Be Sharpest One Of Session; Leaders-Treasury Clash

By GEORGE R. HOLMES
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Dec. 29.—The congress that returns to the capital next week will engage in a number of sanguinary battles, but in none of them does it now appear that the administration is in any danger of losing the grip it so strikingly manifested last session.

The principal battles are expected by the leaders to be waged over: Taxes. Continued large appropriations to finance the recovery program. Money and currency. The monetary aspects of the NRA. The tax fight is expected to be sharp. House leaders whose duty it is to frame the legislation are in marked disagreement with treasury authorities, as disclosed during the recent appearance of acting Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau before the house ways and means committee. The treasury's recommendations, which have not been completed, were made independently of the White House. Probably in the end it will be necessary for President Roosevelt to intervene and force a compromise.

Plan Opposition
A considerable number of Republicans, particularly the conservatives like Senator Reed of Pennsylvania, plan to oppose the continued pouring of hundreds of millions into financing the various recovery units. They are going to demand a "really balanced budget" and a check-rein on appropriations. They will be in the minority, however vocal they become. They will have to meet the argument of the administration that national recovery is now well on its way, and that it would be fatal at this time to start a retreat from the broad program. The money and currency fight likewise will be sharp, and party lines badly divided as they always are on the money question. Vigorous Fight Conservatives of both parties are planning a vigorous fight for a return to the gold standard and an end to the experiment of gold purchases and a managed currency. On the other side of the fence, are the silverites and the inflationists who will insist with equal vigor upon real inflation. Generally, they are going to back the Wheeler bill for free coinage and remonetization of silver.

Between the gold and silver block stand the less vocal majorities in both senate and house, who unless all signs fail will go along with the administration in whatever it proposes. Leaders Aroused The monetary aspects of certain of the NRA codes have aroused some of the leading liberals, including Senator Borah (R) of Idaho. They are going to demand that the anti-trust laws, now virtually suspended by the codes, be revived and that the department of justice act to protect consumers' interests. They are going to charge that the consumer is the "forgotten man" under the NRA.

Friends of the veterans are going to make a valiant effort to get back the compensation cuts effected through the economy bill last session. Senator Robinson (R) of Indiana, who has been campaigning in the middle west on this issue, said today he would introduce a bill to repeal the whole economy act. Have Many Friends Observers believe there is little chance of any so radical a change as what Robinson proposes going through, nevertheless, the veterans have many friends in both houses; politically they are the most powerful of the groups that besiege congress, and they may gain partial success in their drive to recover some of the benefits of which they have been deprived.

The Republicans will present no minority program of any kind. This is due to several causes (1) because they are so in the minority it would be useless, and (2) because they are so divided among themselves they would have difficulty in agreeing on a party program. Party Conference Senator McNary of Oregon, the Republican leader of the senate, has called a party conference for next Tuesday. Some of the Progressive Republicans won't even attend it on the house side, Rep. B. H. Snell of New York, has not called a meeting of his followers and does not plan to do so.

The Republican strategy is to sit back and join in criticism of the administration, and aid and abet Democratic dissent, which they feel sure will not be long in coming. The outlook, on the whole, is for a turbulent session, with a great deal of oratory, but with the White House maintaining its firm seat in the saddle.

Health Of State Was Never Better Than During 1933

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, Dec. 19.—Health of Pennsylvanians during 1933 was never better, the Bureau of Vital Statistics in the Department of Health had reported today on the basis of figures for the first nine months of the year.

The decrease in mortality rate for 1933 continues the trend of the last three years, which the report characterized as "remarkable in view of the serious health hazards experienced during the economic depression." Of particular interest in the report is the decrease in the number of live births. The 1933 birth rate is 16.1 per 1,000 population as compared with 17.5 last year and 18.7 in 1931. Still births also decreased by approximately 10 per cent under last year.

The state's mortality rate of 10.4 per 1,000 population for nine months this year has never been lower, the report said. Substantial decreases were noted in the infant mortality rate and in all childhood diseases except scarlet fever. Deaths from other diseases, except cancer, heart disease and nephritis, also declined.

(International News Service)
DENVER, Dec. 29.—A brother's love and loyalty brought Herbert Reppin, 25, speeding across the country to aid Walter Reppin, 18, in a last-minute fight to escape execution in Colorado's new and untried lethal gas chamber.

Walter is scheduled to die some time next week in the "death box" at Canon City for the murder of Vincent Regan, a taxi driver, in a holdup.

Herbert will appear before Gov. Ed. C. Johnson here to plead for clemency—clemency that will save his younger brother from a death that the latter is terrified at, a "guinea pig" experiment, he describes it.

Herbert spent several hours with Walter in the death cell at Canon City. The condemned youth, greatly surprised to see his older brother, broke down and wept. It was the first real grief he had shown since entering the prison.

Wants to Live

"Walter didn't know I was coming," Herbert said. "He didn't want me to come because he thought I would lose my job in Newark, N. J., as a matter of fact my employer loaned me the money to come here to see what I could do. Walter wants to live the worst way. The braggadocio is all out of him now. He is meek and humble, and religious influence is aiding him. He sees the awful wrong he has done and wants to make amends."

Gov. Johnson's sympathetic attitude toward condemned youths was recently demonstrated when he commuted to life imprisonment the death sentences of three young men.

Minister Helps
Joining Reppin in an appeal to the governor will be the Rev. Charles A. Wing, local Unitarian minister, whose aid was enlisted by the Rev. John Haynes Holmes of New York.

"This boy is really only a child," Rev. Wing declared. "To execute him would be a terrible blot on the state of Colorado. I will do all in my power to persuade the governor to extend clemency. The lad never has had a chance."

ARE FOUND FROZEN

Car Guest Case Opinion Rendered

Clyde Hayden Must File More Specific Statement Against James A. Wallace

Motion for a more specific statement of claim in the case of Clyde Hayden against James A. Wallace, of Ellwood City, was granted in an opinion handed down at court this morning by Judge James A. Chambers.

The case is one growing out of injuries to a guest in an automobile. Wallace contemplated a trip to Buffalo and asked Hayden to go along. Near Leesburg, on the Perry Highway, Wallace turned out to pass another car and lost control of his machine.

The car left the highway, rolled down an embankment, caught fire and was totally destroyed. Hayden was injured and brought suit against Wallace for $5000 damages. He claims that the car was being driven by Wallace at a high and dangerous rate of speed and that he had demonstrated with Wallace on the speed of the car, previous to the accident. A new statement of claim must now be filed.

Furniture Company Wins Fennick Case

Judgment Is Awarded Hyman Cohen, Notwithstanding Verdict In Case

In the case of Bessie and Russell Fennick of Washington township against Hyman Cohen, trading as the New Castle Furniture Company, Judge James A. Chambers handed down an opinion this morning in which a motion was made by the defendant for judgment on the whole record, notwithstanding the verdict, was granted.

This was a case in which Mrs. Fennick was injured when the heel of one shoe caught in a furnace register in the furniture company store and she was thrown to the floor. When the case was tried the jury awarded Mrs. Fennick $22 damages and Mr. Fennick $16. The defendant asked for judgment notwithstanding this verdict, and under the court's opinion the verdict will not have to be paid.

It was shown at the trial that the holes in the register in which Mrs. Fennick's heel had caught were of the regular regulation size.

TO BREED FROGS FOR FRESH MEAT

(International News Service)
JACKSON, Mich.—A number of Jackson county citizens have taken to raising bullfrogs as a result of the depression. Established on a bit of low marshy land near the lakes, these frog farmers are now patiently awaiting the coming of Spring so they may determine what their imported breeding stock has accomplished. Four-pound bullfrogs were imported from Louisiana for breeding purposes.

NEW PLAN TO TELL WHEN MAN'S DRUNK

(International News Service)
DENVER, Col.—Denver officials have adopted the army "609" test to determine drunkenness. The test, to be applied to suspects in automobile accidents, immediately after their arrest, depends on the ability to respond to commands and on the reaction of bodily muscles. It is used by the army to test the fitness of prospective fliers.

Court Refuses To Stay An Execution

Hearing was held at court before Judge James A. Chambers this morning in the case of Hiram G. Miller, use of Anna Miller and William G. Humphrey against Fannie Cohen and Louis Ruzewich, administrators in the estate of the late Isaac Cohen, Fannie Cohen, widow, and Hyman Joseph Cohen terre tenant.

This is a case in which an execution for $6,350 was issued on a mortgage on a property in the second ward. A stay of the writ was asked by defendants and a rule granted on plaintiffs. After hearing the evidence Judge Chambers made the following order: "Rule granted on plaintiffs to show cause why the writ should not be stayed is discharged, and the sheriff is directed to proceed with the execution."

President's Ball Gets Support Of Legion Of Honor

The New Castle Legion of Honor last night voted its full support to the President's national ball which New Castle, along with other cities of the country, will sponsor in behalf of President Roosevelt's birthday and as a benefit for Georgia's Warm Springs Foundation, which is credited with restoring the President's physical vigor some years ago.

The dance is to be held on the evening of January 30.

Earl Moffatt and Ivor Richards were named by the Legion to act for it.

Other civic clubs and service groups will be invited to co-operate in the undertaking.

Troop "F" To Complete Plans For Inspection

Final Drill Before Annual Federal Inspection Takes Place Tonight

HOPE TO PASS TEST WITH FLYING COLORS

Final preparations for the annual federal inspection will be made by Troop F, 103rd cavalry, this evening, when the regular drill will be held in the armory on Neshannock avenue.

Although the troop has had less time to prepare for the event than in past years, they are in good shape for the ordeal and expect to pass the test with flying colors, Captain Harvey G. Bintrim stated today.

Major L. W. Fog, U. S. infantry, will be the inspecting officer and will be here next Tuesday to put the boys through their paces. In addition to brushing up on drill formations, etc., the equipment will be given a thorough going over and will be made spic and span for a visit of the inspecting officer.

Federal inspection generally comes later in the year, giving the troop more time to prepare for the event, but they have been making good use of their time since orders were received three weeks ago and will put the finish touch on preparations this evening.

Final orders for the schedule for Tuesday evening will be issued by Captain Bintrim, and a full attendance of the troop members has been demanded by the commanding officer of the troop for the drill tonight.

Court Decisions Are Presented

In the case of Harry E. Book against the J. R. Motor Company, Judge James A. Chambers handed down an opinion at court this morning in which a new trial is refused. This was an action to recover the value of certain parts of an automobile which the plaintiff had stored in the Rick garage.

The parts were removed by an employee, who thought that the car belonged to the Rick Company.

There was also a counter-charge against Book for storage, and the verdict in the case was in favor of the defendant.

In the case of Alfredo Graziani against Joseph and Elizabeth Smolinski, being a certiorari to Justice of the Peace J. W. Morrow, of Hickory township, judgment of the justice is reversed owing to defects in the summons. The justice had entered judgment for $226 on a civil action.

In the case of the Commercial Credit Company against Terza M. Tilla and the Personal Finance Company, motion for a new trial by defendant, and for judgment on the whole record, was refused. This was a replevin action, growing out of the financing of an automobile purchase, the amount involved being $160.

GOLD HOARDERS ARE OBJECTIVES OF NEW DECREE

been a drain on the country's gold for many years as the metal has been taken abroad to "bury in French backyards or other countries."

Under an order issued by Acting Secretary Morgenthau all gold except that legitimately held on license or otherwise must be returned to the treasury forthwith.

The former order issued by the president gave an exemption of $100 in holding by any one person. That order was issued under section of the emergency banking act which quoted a war time law authorizing the president to regulate and prohibit gold holding and use in time of national emergency.

The new order was issued under section 3 of the same act empowering the secretary of the treasury when he deemed it necessary to protect the currency to impound all gold.

Former Order Weak.

It was believed the treasury felt the former order was weak in some respects. In the Campbell gold hoarding case in New York, the court threw out a count of the indictment charging the holding of gold in excess of $100 under the former order. A count under a different order charging failure to file a return showing the amount of gold held was upheld.

Officials would not discuss the decision except in a general way. It was interpreted, however, as a further move for the permanent impounding of all gold and the elimination of this metal as a medium of circulation.

However, since gold from the federal reserve banks was not called in, it was not the belief the government had arrived at a point where it was ready for stabilization through the devaluing of gold.

No Bearing on Gold Purchases.

Nor was it the opinion the new purchase has any bearing on the purchase of newly mined gold by the Reconstruction Finance corporation. The order specifically stated that gold held by the RFC was exempt.

Other exemptions included:

1—Gold bullion owned by persons holding licenses for use in the arts and industries.

2—Gold coin of a recognized value to collectors.

3—Unmelted scrap gold and sweepings in amount not over $100 for use in the arts and industries.

4—Gold bullion and foreign coin in the Philippine Islands, American Samoa, Guam, Hawaii, Panama, Puerto Rico or the Virgin Islands, owned by a person not domiciled or doing business in continental United States.

There's one consolation. Your feelings don't get hurt if you are humble enough not to expect much. This is what you might call a dictatorship, modified by Al Smith.

Norris Urges New Income Tax Program

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON
International News Service Staff
Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Dec. 29.—A new progressive inheritance tax, large enough in the higher brackets to prevent the handing of swollen fortunes from one generation to another, was advocated today by Senator George W. Norris, veteran leader of senate progressives.

Norris urged adoption of such an inheritance tax at the coming session of congress as a means of redistributing the wealth of the nation. He asserted such a law was necessary to insure permanent agricultural prosperity.

"The farm question is the bug in the ointment," said Norris. "Even the business world is admitting it now. That is what I have told them for years. They always have been deaf ears. Now, candidly, they admit it. Now, candidly, they admit the purchasing power of the farm must be restored before we return to prosperity."

"Employment of men, who are out of work, will restore it. The measures President Roosevelt is administering now, are only temporary and must be made continuous. "One thing I think necessary is the redistribution of property in this country. That can be obtained by a progressive inheritance tax. That law should be permanent. A man should be permitted to retain enough property to provide for his family for the rest of their lives but the remainder ought to be taxed progressively to a point where the untangling of fortunes from one generation to another will become impossible."

Norris confessed his recommendation was not a new one. The idea first was written into the Napoleonic code a century ago in France. It was advocated by the late President Theodore Roosevelt.

The idea was tested in the senate last summer when Senator Long (D) of Louisiana, offered an amendment to the Democratic tax bill, proposing a capital levy tax, topped by 100 per cent on all capital in excess of $100,000,000, an income tax limiting income to $1,000,000 a year and an inheritance tax limiting inheritances to $5,000,000 for any single individual. The amendment was defeated 14 to 50.

Warden Defends Use Of Lethal Gas, Youth May Be First To Die

By ROY BEST
Warden Of Colorado State
Penitentiary
Written Exclusively For International News Service

CANON CITY, Colo., Dec. 29.—Unlike many cases of those condemned to die there is no question of the guilt or innocence of young Walter Reppin, who is now scheduled to die the first week in January by lethal gas at Colorado State Penitentiary. He admits that he killed Vincent Regan, youthful Colorado Springs taxi driver. He has told me all of the details of the crime. It is my belief that when he started out that night with two guns on him he really did not intend to kill. He used them as a substitute for nerve to get "some easy money" by the stick-up route. When his victim put up an unexpected fight I think Reppin lost his head and fired, fatally wounding his opponent. That part of it, I feel, was not premeditated.

Act Is Regretted
Of course Reppin regretted his hasty action immediately but, too late. Crimes of youth are often that way, the result of heedless, impetuous action. Reppin is to pay with his life for something he wouldn't have done if he thought twice. Whether Reppin's death by lethal gas as a condemned murderer will keep other boys from a similar fate is a question. I think such a drastic measure does keep youths and men from criminal careers but to what extent I cannot say.

No Home Life
Reppin had no home life, no parental guidance. His training was hit or miss. He did not have the religious influence when he needed it most. That he would have received religion earnestly is evidenced by the way he took it up when he came here. He was not prepared to meet the trials of the world and he took the easiest path from which a well developed will power would have kept him.

Lethal gas as a method of execution is being installed in Colorado prison upon my recommendation. I investigated the Nevada gas method thoroughly before I made my decision. I think it more humane and

... Real Throat Relief!
Medicated with ingredients of Vicks VapoRub easier upon the victim and the officials. There is not the tenseness nor the agony of strangulation which is so often the part of a hanging. Gas is inexpensive, quick and effective. It leaves no burns nor scars and subjects the victims to a minimum of discomfort and suspense. There is nothing experimental about it. It is a tried and true method of execution.

Man, 81, Jailed On Murder Charge

SEBRING, O., Dec. 29.—Casper Powell, 81, is in the Mahoning county jail at Youngstown on a murder charge in connection with the fatal shooting late Wednesday night of Miss Frances Gerino, 25, of 166 West Ely street, Alliance, who had been helping to care for the aged man's 77-year-old wife at the home of his son, Harry Powell, 355 West Indiana avenue.

Miss Gerino, who had gone to the Powell home Tuesday as nurse to the elder Mrs. Powell, was shot thru the right eye.

The aged man evidently mistook the young woman for his 44-year-old son, whom he had pursued with a revolver.

Sample of American wit heard in an elevator: "But he won't take a chance! He's one of these birds who expect to steal second while keeping one foot on first base."

There's one consolation. No matter how little you understand the situation, a lot of great men are in the same fix.

Many Articles Are Found In Cars Left For Wreckers; Nobody Ever Calls For 'Em

In the auto wrecking business, a dealer doesn't know what he is buying until he goes about tearing down the worn out vehicle. According to Dave Tobin, who operates a wrecking yard in the South Side, every second hand car is a prize package. In the past 10 years, Dave stated today, he has found many kinds of articles from handkerchiefs to suspension bridges, in the deteriorated autos. One yesterday, Mr. Tobin discovered two sets of false teeth in a car which is about to be dismantled. So if you need a set of false teeth, see Mr. Tobin and he will give you a set, provided the owner of the teeth doesn't show up. One would think that a person would miss them.

Bottles and bottles of liquor, yes likker, have been found in the side pockets of cars, under the seats and even in the lining of the vehicle. Tobin said today, it seems that people who see Tobin about junking their cars, never paid a bit of attention to look around and see what they really did have in their cars. Mr. Tobin has found many coins, of course, nickles, dimes, pennies and even half dollars, during his auto wrecking career.

Ladies handkerchiefs, some with lace others just simple ones, are stacked up in one of the corners of the warehouse. Clothes, boots, shoes and lots of other paraphernalia have been found. The funny part of the whole thing, Tobin said, is that the owners either don't want the articles or don't care about them, as they never call for them.

Al Smith Will Be Sixty Years Old On Saturday

Famous Veteran Democratic Leader In New York
State Works Every Day

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN
International News Service Staff
Correspondent

NEW YORK, Dec. 29.—Alfred E. Smith, who looks to be in fine physical condition, will be 60 years old Saturday.

The former governor is taking the new milestone in stride. He gives the impression that tomorrow will be "just another birthday." He plans to celebrate the anniversary quietly, going to his office as usual and having a family dinner in the evening at his home, 51 Fifth avenue.

Congratulatory messages already have begun to arrive, including such practical gifts as a crate of celery from Denver and a box of apples from Oregon.

Works Every Day.
Newspaper reporters and photographers will swoop down on "Al" at the Empire State building on Saturday for the annual birthday interview and pictures. He hasn't been in the public prints much since his blast against the "baloney dollar" which drew a sharp rejoinder from Father Charles E. Coughlin, Detroit's radio priest.

Smith is looking well and apparently, working as hard as ever. His complexion is as ruddy as ever and his step spry.

You can find him almost any day at his desk—as the writer did—on the 32nd floor of the Empire State building. You'll get a hearty handshake, a typical Al Smith smile and, if you're a reporter, maybe an "off the record" chat. But no interview.

SANTA CLAUS' MISTAKE

Dear News:
On one of Santa's pre-Christmas scouting trips he flew in his invisible plane over New Castle. "Aha," chuckled the Saint. "What a fine combination! Thousands of fine children who need the fresh air and bright sunshine of our door: scores of the loveliest hills in beautiful western Pennsylvania right at their door! Only one thing more is necessary and I'll speak to my friend Jack Frost about that. I know what to bring to these New Castle children."

So on Christmas morning, many happyboys and girls found bright new sleds under their stockings. Seeing these other children pulled out of hiding sleds of past years, still also painfully new looking, and together they scanned the bright warm sky and wondered when they would have a chance to use the sleds.

Christmas night Jack Frost did his part and covered the earth with lovely, fleecy snow. The sun came out in all his glory to see the fun. And Santa, rested from his labors, soared again over Western Pennsylvania. In some cities he saw sequestered sledding places for children in the public parks, in others he noted happy throngs gaily careening down certain hillside streets which had been set aside as coasting places and protected from vehicle traffic. "Fine! Fine!" he laughed happily—"Ozone, exercise and happiness! What a fine combination, especially for our growing youngsters who spend so many long hours in the school room and so few in God's great out of doors."

But suddenly his plane slowed down, a surprise look stole over his face as he peered in wonder at a charming little city just under his plane. "What! Did I forget the sleds for New Castle? Surely not, yet there are no children sliding down these beautiful hillsides. Are those black ashes I see on the streets! Fine for the motorist, but they surely have some hills set aside for the children! They certainly have made some spot safe for the children's fun. But look as he might, the good Saint could find no place in all the beautiful snow clad city where children might coast down the hills in safety, protected and happy—"I wonder!" mused Santa with a puzzled look, if I made a mistake or if the city of New Castle is really inconsiderate of her children!—I wonder!"

Almost fifty years ago in 1885, when there were comparatively few paved streets in New Castle and plenty of open country for the children's play, the city wisely passed an ordinance forbidding children to slide upon the streets or sidewalks of the city. In 1920 this action was amended and the prohibition extended to practically all the streets of the city. The coming of the automobile had made some such action imperative. Yet no provision whatever was or has been made whereby the children might have some little-used streets set aside for their use, forbidden to traffic, such as has been done in many other cities.

Surely this should be done, and at once and with discretion. Certain hillsides for children under fourteen years; others for older boys and girls. Winter sports have as important a place in modern life as those of the summer. People who can afford it throng to Lake Placid and other northern resorts for skiing, sliding, and skating. We would feel New Castle were very much out of date had we no golf courses. Yet we are so situated that we may also have the joys of winter sports.

Of course there is an element of personal danger in all out door sports. Some swimmers drown, yet we encourage our children to swim. Skaters sometimes break through the ice, yet thousands of happy skaters spin over the lakes of the north. Football is acknowledgedly dangerous, yet our High schools rejoice in their teams. Statistics show the greatest number of accidents occur in the home, but who avoids the home because of that fact. Children will slide on sleds whether it is safe or not and whether it is lawabiding or not.

Let us set aside a coasting place for our children and make it as safe as is possible. Let us parents teach our children care and discretion. Let the city furnish a guard for these places during the times needed, which would not be a great burden in our mild climate.

Let us remember that the "Citizens of tomorrow walk in the boys and girls of today," and let us see to it that they build strong bodies and contented minds through happy out door play.

Sincerely,
MRS. ARCHIBALD H. DAVIS, Jr.

McCANDLESS ATTENDING P. S. E. A. CONVENTION

Prof. Porter McCandless, of Harlansburg, accompanied by a friend, Hubert Jack, of Grove City, are attending this week's convention of the Pennsylvania State Educational Association in Philadelphia.

On Court House Hill

Commission of Thomas C. West, of Scott township, as Justice of the Peace, was recorded at the register and recorder's office today. Mr. West was re-elected at the November election.

Justice of the Peace H. M. Reynolds of Union township is showing a post card received from Mrs. Bud Maschki, of Cleveland, O. Mrs. Maschki was formerly Miss Helen Morgan, a noted radio singer, who married Maschki, an attorney of Cleveland. The marriage, which was performed by Justice Reynolds, was kept quiet for some time, and created quite a sensation when it was announced. The post card contained a picture of a piano, on top of which a couple of mickey mice were singing a duet.

Lester J. Nagel has issued a writ of foreign attachment at the prothonotary's office against the National Association of Dramatics, incorporated, in which the sheriff is directed to attach any money or dividends that may be due the defendant from Marth Shrine, 14, White Shrine of Jerusalem.

The bonds of William R. Walker as tax collector of Wayne township and Robert McClenahan, constable of Pulaski township have been approved by the court.

In connection with the agitation for sidewalks on Atlantic avenue a visitor at the court house this morning, remarked that sidewalks would be all right, if people could be induced to use them. From Cascade Park to East New Castle there is a sidewalk, he said, but regardless of the walk, there are a lot of people who still persist in using the public highway. "It is one thing to have a sidewalk," he said, and another to get the people to walk on it. In this connection I might say that there are a lot of people who walk on public highways who are not half as careful as the motorists. They seem to have all confidence that the motorist will not strike them, and often walk three or four abreast, with no attempt to get out of the way. Of course they have a right on the road, but one would think that they would at least use due caution."

Lorenzo and Dora Tommaso have filed a suit at the prothonotary's office against Joseph Heaney, administrator in the estate of the late E. J. O'Brien, to collect a bill of $55.46, alleged to be due their son, Michael Tommaso, for wages. Lorenzo Tommaso, has also filed suit for $52.33 alleged to be due him for wages.

Immediately after Sheriff-Elect Pritchard is sworn into office on the morning of January 1st, he will be called upon to mount the auctioneer's block, and dispose of about twenty properties at sheriff sale. The "block," however, is but a figure of speech, as the selling is usually done from the steps, leading up to No. 1 court room. A deputy generally assists in the sales, it being his province to read the description of the property to be sold. Sheriff Frank Johnston has done all the preliminary work, and will draw the fees for the county until the new sheriff takes charge. Work preliminary to a sheriff sale includes looking up liens and taxes against the property to be sold and involves quite a large amount of work. This detail work has usually been done by Deputy Sheriff William Reynolds, while Johnston has been sheriff.

A notary commission for Miss Elizabeth Connelly, was recorded today at the register and recorder's office. Commissions are issued by the governor and the notary is required to give bond.

How many people remember a string of hitching posts that used to line Court street on the north side of the court house? The hitching posts were used by farmers and others who drove in buggies and wagons to the court house. The posts, were stout oak affairs with holes in the top, through which the hitching straps could be tied. Usually there was a hole around each post, the earth being pawed out by impatient horses. These hitching posts disappeared many years ago, when the automobile came into general use. Now practically every farmer in the county drives an automobile, and a horse and buggy would be as much of a curiosity at the court house, as an automobile in the earlier days of the auto industry.

Now that Ireland has gone in for Blue Shirts the colors are pretty nearly used up by the different countries. However, any that want to start a movement can get some good ideas for combinations from the American colleges.—Charleston Evening Post.

- X 1—that no other regular priced gas in any market will surpass TYDOL in anti-knock quality (contains tetraethyl lead)
- X 2—that no other regular priced gas will give more power, more mileage or greater economy
- X 3—that TYDOL will continue to be different because it lubricates as it drives.

You'll read plenty of gasoline claims in 1934... new gasolines may appear... and other gasolines may show improvements. But TYDOL is set to maintain its 1933 quality leadership.

TYDOL will not be surpassed in anti-knock. It contains tetraethyl lead, formerly used only in premium priced gasolines. It will give you power, mileage, economy... plus TYDOL'S lubricating feature that is yet to be matched by old-fashioned gasolines. Prove it today in your own car.

Lawrence County Farms And Farmers

By H. R. McCulloch, County Agent

393 DAIRY CATTLE TO BE SHOWN AT CAPITAL

Dairy cattle exhibits at the Pennsylvania Farm Show in Harrisburg, January 15 to 19, 1934, will compose one of the best displays ever assembled in the state. The entries in each of the dairy breeds include animals from some of the very best breeding herds of the state. The entire space allotted to dairy cattle will be filled to overflowing.

Exhibits will come from 70 counties in all sections of the state, from Chester County in the east to Lawrence County in the west.

Entries include 38 Ayrshires, 53 Brown Swiss, 114 Guernsey, 107 Holsteins, and 76 Jerseys, a total of 393 head. Included in this number are 80 4-H Club animals to be exhibited by an equal number of 4-H Club members from 14 clubs in 11 counties. The excellence of the animals insures keen competition.

DEMONSTRATIONS HELP TO PLAN 1934 GARDENS

Feeding the family a complete vegetable diet all year is easy when the farm garden is well managed. Good gardening saves the family $150 to $300 each year, makes meal planning easier in the summer with an abundance of fresh vegetables and also stocks the cellar with stored and canned foods for the winter.

Better gardening methods were shown in 154 garden demonstrations throughout Pennsylvania this year. Meetings were conducted at garden demonstrations in Lawrence County. Information was given on varieties to grow, fertilizers, lime, storage and other problems.

Now is the time to plan your 1934 garden. Seed catalogs will come with the new year. Select only the best varieties and provide a well-balanced lot to supply the family early and late.

SEED OATS SHORTAGE IS SPRING PROSPECT

Every spring farmers ask where they can get good seed oats at a reasonable price. On account of a poor oat crop and unfavorable harvest weather, more inquiries and less good local seed to take care of them are expected next spring.

Where good local seed is not available, the common practice is to go to the mill or feed store and buy western oats for seed, or to send off to a seed house and pay a high price for varieties of doubtful value.

Most western varieties are not very well adapted to Pennsylvania conditions, being large and late. Smaller and earlier strains are usually much more satisfactory, especially in the southern half of the state. Cornelian, Patterson, Miami, Keystone, and Swedish Select are varieties which do very satisfactory under Lawrence County conditions. Plenty of oats of these varieties is grown in the County by most farmers for feed purposes. By seed time next spring the supply of most of them will be exhausted.

The farmer who has a good supply of fairly bright clean oats might well hold back on feeding it, just because the oats are not so heavy or so bright as usual does not necessarily impair the value for seed. If the oats are of a well adapted variety, the yielding condition is still there, providing a germination test shows that the grain will sprout vigorously.

Wheat, such as mustards, wild radish, Canada thistle, chicory, and many others, are often carried in seed oats. Thorough cleaning is always advisable, but even the best cleaning fails to remove all mustards.

PROPER CARE IS NEED OF CHRISTMAS PLANTS

What to do with flowering plants received as Christmas troubles many recipients.

Perhaps the most popular plant is the Poinsettia (Euphorbia pulcherrima) with its gorgeous variations in color from a brilliant crimson to a pinkish white. When the plant is in bloom too much water is harmful, as are drafts or cold air. This plant requires plenty of sunlight and a temperature of 65 degrees Fahrenheit. The brilliant so-called flowers are only large modified leaves and the true parts of the flower are the small appendages in the center. A sharp knife should be used to cut the flower and modified leaves. The end of the stem should be placed immediately in boiling water or dipped in charcoal or seared with a flame in order to prevent it from bleeding.

The cyclamen seems to rank next in importance as a Christmas decorative plant. This plant is somewhat sensitive to the rays of the sun. It requires about 18 months from seed. This plant requires cool temperatures, plenty of sunshine, and a bulbous stem or corm should never be covered with soil.

Another of the many Christmas plants is the Begonia, which requires protection from the rays of the winter sun and plenty of moisture.

Primroses are largely used as decorations for the table or window ledge. The three species most commonly grown are P. obconica, a large flowering type which sometimes causes a rash to the skin; the P. chinensis which has small flowers above the foliage. The Primroses are particularly sensitive to overwatering and will thrive in a sunny location with the temperature of 55 to 60 degrees Fahrenheit.

The Cineraria will grow well if supplied with an abundance of water. The general cultural treatment is similar to that of the Primrose.

The Pocketbook plant (calceolaria hybrida) is particularly attractive with its many varied hues of flowers. The flowers are shaped like an open pocketbook, from which it derives its name. It requires a well-drained soil of a fibrous loam texture of 50 degrees Fahrenheit.

In general, plants will thrive if these rules are followed:

1. Maintain ample drainage.
2. Water properly.
3. Know the nature of the plant.
4. Maintain temperature which does not vary too greatly.
5. Keep shade-loving plants in shade, sun-loving plants in full sunlight.
6. Cut off flowers when they are faded; remove dying or dead leaves or branches.
7. Repel insect and disease pests.
8. Keep air in room where plants are kept moist.
9. Spray foliage occasionally with water.
10. Do not allow seed to develop on plants.
11. Keep plants away from odors of coal and illuminating gases.

HERE'S WOMAN WHO IS CRACK THROWER

(International News Service) ABBOT, Me.—There are various ways of ridding henyards of hawks, but to a local resident goes the credit for the most novel method. She saw a hawk perched upon a beam in the barn, picked up an apple and hurled it. It was an ace. Before the stunned hawk recovered, the lady sharp-shooter wrung its neck.

McNair Refuses Confirmation Of His New Cabinet

Official Pittsburgh Believes That Cabinet Is "All Cut And Dried"

MALONE WILL HEAD SAFETY DEPARTMENT

(International News Service) PITTSBURGH, Dec. 29.—Although Mayor-Elect William N. McNair refused to deny or confirm reports that his cabinet has been completed, political authorities today were inclined to believe the next chief executive's cabinet is "cut and dried."

These same authorities place James F. Malone as director of public safety.

The remainder of the cabinet would be: Leslie M. Johnston, chairman of the Citizens League, department of public works; Southard Hay, public welfare; Dr. Ray P. Moyer, public health; Cornelius D. Scully, city solicitor; Colonel W. R. Dunlap, department of supplies and Thomas M. Benner, present assistant city solicitor, to continue in that post.

Great Britain Is Pleased With Roosevelt's Talk

Plan For World Peace Outlined At Wilson Dinner Speech Enthusiastically Received

(International News Service) LONDON, Dec. 29.—President Roosevelt's three-point plan for world peace as outlined at the Wilson memorial dinner in Washington was enthusiastically received in Great Britain, where it was regarded as being extremely well timed.

Roosevelt's firm stand in favor of non-aggression and the elimination of offensive weapons, and his proposal for a world pact to insure these ideals, were regarded as extremely helpful in the present world crisis.

Government officials pointed out that it embodied ideas which have been the basis of British policy for some time.

Close Guard On Condemned Pair In Scranton Jail

Extra Guards Placed At The Cells Of Two Doomed Slayers; Saws Found; Bars Are Cut

(International News Service) SCRANTON, Pa., Dec. 29.—Extra guards were placed on duty today at the cells of Wallace Skawinski and James Riggs, condemned to die in the electric chair for the murder of a police officer, after authorities frustrated an attempted jail break.

Each prisoner had three saw blades in his cell, according to prison officials. One steel bar in Skawinski's cell window had been sawed partly through.

Prison authorities said the saws were smuggled into the jail in a box of candy by a woman visitor.

Another package containing saws was found in the jail yard. Officials said it was tossed over the wall from the outside.

The doomed men murdered Detective Lieutenant Lewis Roberts during a chain store holdup here last April 1.

American Guests In Havana Hotel Have Close Call

High-Powered Bullets Rip Through Walls Of Rooms During Labor Disputes

(International News Service) HAVANA, Dec. 9.—Four American guests of the Hotel Plaza today congratulated themselves upon a narrow escape from harm when high-powered bullets peppered their rooms during labor disorders in the street below.

Occupants of the rooms hit were A. W. Kolander, S. R. Klaubuck, and Albert Cooper all of Philadelphia and Jerome Nubar, of New York City.

The shooting followed attacks upon the Woolworth stores in Havana led by former employees.

Roosevelt Is Given Praise In Cuba Today

Speech In Capital Thursday Night Interpreted As Against Armed Intervention

CUBAN LEADERS

HAIL PRESIDENT

(International News Service) HAVANA, Dec. 29.—Official Havana was jubilant today over President Roosevelt's firm declaration against armed intervention.

It was interpreted here as being concerned directly with Cuba, and as final assurance the island republic would be allowed to work out its destiny alone.

All leaders, from President Ramon Grau San Martin down, joined in enthusiastic praise of the Roosevelt stand.

"President Roosevelt now has won more fully than ever the admiration and respect of the Cuban people," President Grau told International News Service.

For the anniversary celebration which occurs from February 8 to 14 Dr. R. C. Lutz, Sidney Smith, B. K. Thacker and Rev. Stump were chosen.

Announcement was made by Jack Crowl today that the Colonial hotel, East Washington street, has been leased to Jimmie Savage, former big league baseball player, effective January 1.

LIFE-SAVING SAUSAGE

REAL BOLONEY

(International News Service) PARTENKIRCHEN, Bavaria.—A good, solid, hard, but elastic German sausage saved the life of Franz Baer, young son of a farmer in the Bavarian mountains, when he was attacked by an unknown assailant with a knife.

Franz, with a knapsack on his shoulder in which the sausage was stored away, came home from the market and was suddenly attacked by a man rushing from behind a shrub.

Franz pulled the sausage from his knapsack, brandished it like a sword, and knocked the assailant on his head so violently that he laid off and ran away.

The sausage survived the test. That's all there is to the "baloney" story.

You can't succeed because of handicaps? Blah. What sort of dog moves forward most rapidly? The one with a can tied to his tail.

'HOT CHA' BALL FOR WHITE HOUSE

Strains of so-called "hot-cha" music will drift from the East room at the White House, above, when the nation's first family celebrates the advent of 1934 with a New Year's Eve ball. The popular tunes will be played by Meyer Davis, inset, and his 20-piece orchestra. Davis, who has been playing at White House dances for 16 years, intends to include such popular selections as "Did You Ever See a Dream Walking?" and "Who's Afraid of the Big, Bad Wolf?" on the dance program.

Engineers Favor Walk Along Atlantic Ave.

The executive council of the New Castle's Engineers' Society at a meeting last night in the Pennsylvania Power building, passed a resolution offering their support to the work of CWA and in particular the project covering a walkway along Atlantic avenue. The engineers feel that this sidewalk can be constructed without interfering in any way with normal movement of traffic, and its completion will eliminate a long standing hazard to pedestrians now forced to walk on the paved right-of-way.

C. H. Leis, president of the Engineers' Society, outlined plans for dinner meetings at the Castleton Hotel, followed by the regular business meeting, the third Monday of each month. These dinner meetings will start at 6:30 p. m. and a subject of interest will be discussed each time.

Because of the widened scope of the society, which will now embrace Ellwood City, Sharon and Youngstown, a resolution was passed by the executive council to change the name to "Monong-Shenango Valley Engineers' Society". This will be voted upon at the next meeting on January 15th.

Among the subjects to be discussed at meetings this year are included air conditioning, manufacture of pipe and tubing, mechanical transmission of power, canalization and other engineering developments. One meeting will probably be devoted to a discussion of silicosis, which is an industrial disease. Legislation is now pending in several sections of the country to regulate the conditions under which it is contracted.

Inspection trips are planned through the Youngstown Sheet & Tube Company's plant at Youngstown and the 5,000,000-volt testing laboratory of the Westinghouse Company at Sharon.

Any men interested in engineering work are eligible to membership in the organization and are invited to attend the meetings. A drive for new members will get under way immediately, headed by J. N. Crombie, chairman of the membership committee.

MUSSOLINI CHANGES NEW LEHAR OPERA

(International News Service) VIENNA—Franz Lehár's new opera, to be produced at the Vienna State Opera, had been radically changed by order of Mussolini.

Lehár presented the piano score and the libretto of his opera "Giuditta" to the Italian premier "Duce" who graciously accepted, but after reading the manuscript informed the composer that the character of an Italian officer in the play did not correspond to new Italian ideals. It was not heroic enough for the Duce.

In compliance with his wishes the scene of the action has been laid in Portugal.

Waters Explains Of Disagreement On Relief Report

Report Submitted To Governor Pinchot By Eric Biddle; Not From State Board

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Dec. 29.—State Treasurer Charles A. Waters was on record today with an explanation that the report submitted to Gov. Gifford Pinchot on relief by Eric Biddle's individual findings and recommendations and not those of the state emergency relief board as a whole.

Waters is a member of the board. "From inquiries I have received there is apparently a feeling that the report represents the action of the board," Waters declared.

Waters said this feeling was not true, adding that there are some parts of the report "with which I thoroughly disagree."

Principal among recommendations made in the report was one outlining the setting up of a long time relief system in the state with payments only in cash.

A HARD JOB IN STORE

"Mummy," said the daughter of the house, "how long is it to my birthday?"
Mother looked thoughtful.
"Why, it isn't long now, darling," she replied.
It was the child's turn to look thoughtful. Then slowly she said: "Well, I suppose it's almost time for me to begin to be a good girl."

Her mind, under expert and scientific training has been made more alert so that her public school work has profited. Many of the Patterson students have increased their mental efficiency 5 to 13 per cent.

The Patterson Musical Kindergarten, in method and equipment, is one of the most outstanding schools for children in the country. It embraces the essence of all that has been developed by the best American and European authorities on child training. The equipment, consisting of miniature pianos, technicians, etc., is the best and most effective which manufacturing ingenuity has devised.

Training is given in the form of play and recreation. It includes voice culture, piano playing, supplementary activities, physical culture, rhythmic drills, plays, conducting, original composition, songs, stories, games, etc.

Your child should be given this training at the awakening of his musical intelligence—not later than his fifth or sixth year—thereby uncovering his talent before wrong thought habits have been established.

Children who receive training in The Patterson Musical Kindergarten become superior children, welcome guests at every gathering and outstanding in home and school.

Burt Shotton May Be Ousted By Philadelphia

Phillies Trying To Trade Hurst For Bottomley And Would Make "Sunny Jim" Manager

By DAVID J. WALSH
International News Service Sports Editor

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Dec. 29.—After taking testimony from several available sources, I can feel free this morning to state that there seems to be more fact than fiction in the story that the Philadelphia National League Ball Club is ready to trade its manager, even up for nobody. That, anyhow, is the general aspect of a deal that is understood to be under way, whereby Jim Bottomley, first baseman, is to be traded from Cincinnati to Philadelphia for Don Hurst, first baseman, with Mr. Burt Shotton, the manager, being as they thrown in.

Maybe that's what is holding it up. Most of the time, Mr. Shotton is being thrown out. In fact, I now am informed that Gerald Nugent, the president, offered to do this only a few weeks ago, with the result that the story got around that Jimmy Wilson, the catcher, was to take over the club.

Shotton Objects
However, there was and is only one thing against it. Mr. Shotton isn't very broad minded and it seems he doesn't want to be thrown out and, besides, he has a contract which says that he is not to get what he doesn't want. So when Mr. Nugent suggested that he leave, Mr. Shotton offered to arbitrate.

"All right," said he, brightly. "I'll tell you what I'll do. I'll stay." It was then I believe that the Ball Club decided to offer the trade of Mr. Shotton for nobody and, in fact, to make up the difference out of its own pocket. This no doubt sounds like a lot of light, airy banter, but it seems to be no more than the simple truth. The deal, as I get it, is being considered strictly on the basis named, the idea being that if the Cincinnati Club is not willing to pay Mr. Shotton his $15,000 as provided by the contract, the Philadelphia Club is ready to kick back with the difference.

This, for all I know, may be contrary to baseball law. It may even be contrary to common sense but Mr. Nugent might be a little prejudiced on that point. In fact, if I didn't know better, I'd almost begin to think that maybe he isn't one of Mr. Shotton's many admirers.

Illness Cripples Stanford Eleven

Four Of Stanford Stars Are Out Of Lineup With Illness; Game Is New Years

(International News Service)
PASADENA, Cal., Dec. 29.—Illness today struck at Stanford's chance for a victory over Columbia University in the annual Rose Bowl football game here New Year's Day. Bobby Grayson, stellar sophomore fullback, was stricken suddenly with a cold that bordered upon influenza and was confined to bed at a hotel by Dr. E. F. Both, team physician.

Dr. Both reported that Grayson was suffering from the same ailment that kept Wes Muller, giant center, in a hospital for four days. Claude Galloway also was visited by the malady that threatens to weaken Stanford banks. Muller left the hospital yesterday.

Jack Hillman, first string fullback in 1932, who was replaced by the spectacular Grayson this autumn, is ready to resume his old position.

Stresses Defense
Moscrip, star end, has returned to form after being on the sidelines with an old injury to a leg. Coach "Tiny" Thornhill of Stanford continued to allow his players to enjoy themselves at practice sessions yesterday in which the cards stressed forward passes and a running attack that varied sharply from the one used successfully against the University of Southern California.

Thornhill today was to stress defense. He delayed this task until the last minute because he wants his team members to have his instructions fresh in their minds when they attempt to stop Cliff Montgomery and his eastern team mates.

(International News Service)
CHICAGO, Dec. 29.—Another comedy of the cauliflower sort is to be offered the customers when King Levinsky, who swings from the fire exit, and Don McCormick, a South African importation, mix in spirited combat tonight at the Chicago stadium.

They're placing 7 to 5 odds that McCormick does not escape in ponderous heavings of the King. In three rounds they will be carrying Dinnie from the ring looking like something that had come through the mail.

Columbia Team Is Taking Rest

Only Light Workouts For Columbia Team Until They Pasadena Is Reached

(International News Service)
TUCSON, Ariz., Dec. 29.—Columbia university's football team will take only easy workouts today and tomorrow in preparation for the Rose Bowl game with Stanford New Year's day.

Coach Lou Little said this morning his team was physically perfect and he did not intend to take a chance on either injury or stalemate. The players are eager to get at Stanford. The natives here, who have seen many teams practice on their way to Rose Bowl duels, say they never saw a team so eager to battle as the Columbia squad.

The boys think they have a great chance to score the major upset of the season despite a disparity of 15 or more pounds per man in weight.

Holds 1876 Law Constitutional

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, Dec. 29.—An opinion written by Judge John Fox in Dauphin county court today held that the Act of 1873 imposing double liability on bank stockholders is constitutional.

Unless reversed in higher courts the decision may affect stockholders in all closed banks in the state. The opinion held that the title of the act sufficiently explains the purpose of the statute and gives sufficient notice to warrant any interested party to make a further search for information.

The decision was returned in the case of Scott J. Corbett, Harrisburg, who was assessed $800 for his 16 shares of stock in the Farmers and Mechanics Bank of Northumberland.

Sample of American humor heard in a train: "I'm better off since that old tightwad fired me. I'm still getting no money, same as usual, but I don't have to work for it now."

Ad vice to lawmakers: if restrictions on legal liquor are too absurd, public sentiment will make it impossible to enforce the said restrictions. Will youse guys never learn?

Impelletiere To Battle Neusel In New York Arena

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Dec. 29.—Towering Ray Impelletiere, the giant who considerably tormented Tommy Loughran not so long ago, meets Walter Neusel of Germany, in a ten-round bout in Madison Square Garden tonight.

There will be a difference of some 64 pounds when they hook up, yet this should not burden the German. Long arms and not weight will be Neusel's trouble tonight.

Impelletiere has the arms of a gorilla and were he to put that animal power behind them every time he uses them, no man alive could cope with him.

Ray showed in the Loughran fight that he can bear down like an army mule when he elects to sock, but it isn't often he clicks.

The greeting was an aged shingle taken from a barn at Cooksburg Pa. It was sent the governor in St. Luke's hospital in New York where he is recuperating from an attack of shingles, a nervous ailment.

"Be hopeful; this lasted only 70 years; your's some days," was the greeting message on one side of the shingle.

HARRISBURG, Dec. 29.—Number of men employed by the State Highway Department in the week ending December 1 was 6,634 more than for the previous week and would have surpassed the all-time record of 55,396 set in the week of November 26, 1932, except for bad weather, according to Secretary of Highways Sam Lewis today.

The total number hired for the pre-Christmas week was 52,774. Sixty protests were interrupted by bad weather.

Rescue Aviators In Lake Michigan

Large Amphibian Plane Is Forced Down 20 Miles Off Shore; Fliers Are Uninjured

(International News Service)
MUSKEGON, Mich., Dec. 29.—Two aviators rescued from their foundering amphibian plane in the icy waters of Lake Michigan were hurried to Grand Haven for medical treatment today aboard the Coast Guard Cutter Escanaba.

The two fliers, H. P. Gossett and B. W. Craycraft, had been drifting helplessly in their crippled plane for eight hours before the Escanaba's crew sighted their distress flares and went to the rescue.

"Uncomfortable but unharmed," was the radio message describing the fliers' condition which was flashed ashore by Lieut. Commander L. W. Perkins, in command of the Escanaba.

Engine trouble forced the large amphibian plane down in the lake 20 miles out from Milwaukee on the plane's regular flight across the lake to this port. The airplane, owned by the Kohler Aviation Corporation, was flying mail and express from Milwaukee to Grand Rapids where it was scheduled to meet a plane bound for Detroit.

Eastern Eleven Favored To Win Game On Coast

(International News Service)
SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 29.—Odds today favored the eastern team to win the annual East-West Shrine football classic here New Years day.

After watching the two squads in action for several days various observers say that the east looks a bit too fast and strong for the western gridder.

On the theory that both lines will be too hefty and smart for much ground gaining that way, observers believe that passing and kicking will take the verdict and in these departments they say Feathers, of Tennessee; Danowski, of Fordham, and Lukats, of Notre Dame, have an edge over the west's backs.

Plans To Rigid Law Racketeering.

By THOMAS F. CULLEN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, Dec. 29.—Congress will strike the first real blow at racketeering ever delivered on behalf of Uncle Sam if it enacts into law the recommendation of Sen. Royal S. Copeland, chairman of the U. S. senate sub-committee on racketeering and crime, to provide for life imprisonment for anyone who intimidates with violence business men engaged in interstate commerce.

He will recommend that the anti-trust laws under which the federal government regulates trade between the states, be amended to prevent racket methods in this form of commerce.

Copeland points out that the United States government can legislate only on business matters which are carried on from one state to another, and cannot regulate those of only a local nature.

However, most racketeering is transacted across borders, and this in commerce has been subject to the law in the past.

Laws Inadequate. The federal anti-trust laws have been inadequate to prevent the levying of tribute on business by the underworld.

The penalties for violation of these laws are considered too light to be very effective if used against the underworld.

These laws have been used by the government in the absence of stronger ones, in New York as a basis of prosecution in the poultry and fish rackets.

However under the Copeland bill it will be a violation of the United States law for anyone to try to compel another person who is engaged in interstate trade to do anything or abstain from doing anything which that person has a legal right to do. This will be the keystone of the attack on rackets.

STOCKS

Is Quiet Today

Trend Of Prices Are Generally Higher In Quiet Market; Gains Are Small

PROFIT TAKING HAS APPEARED

By LESLIE GOULD
International News Service
Financial Writer

NEW YORK, Dec. 29.—The stock market turned into a quiet affair today with the trend of prices generally higher, but gains were small and the list appeared to have risen to the point where profit taking threatened to become pronounced on any further bulge.

The commodity markets failed to supply any stimulus to stocks. Wheat and the other grains including corn, rye, oats, and barley were quiet and fractionally lower in sluggish trading. The cotton market was an apathetic affair with prices showing little change from yesterday's close.

The motor shares were under profit taking pressure right from the start with General Motors and Chrysler being turned over in fairly large volume. Both issues failed to get very far and neither were able to get through their previous highs.

United States Smelting was a feature in the gold shares gaining more than 4 points to touch par. The other gold mining shares including Homestake, Alaska Juneau, Dome, and McIntyre were quiet and just about managed to hold their own.

Railroad stocks including New York Central, Southern Pacific, Illinois Central, and Atchafalaya were steady in light trading. The buy and here was apparently deterred by the prospects of a decrease in car loadings to be reported later today.

Profit taking was apparent in the specialty shares notably Celanese which lost more than 2 points, John Manville, Allied Chemical, and United Aircraft held steady.

The utilities enjoyed a fair demand which lifted Consolidated Gas, Public Service and some of the lower priced stocks.

United States Steel and other representative industrial shares were quiet and mainly steady.

North Sewickley Will Get $12,800 Fund For Work

Many Improvements Are To Be Made With CWA Fund Projects

ELLWOOD CITY, Dec. 29.—Residents of North Sewickley township are to be congratulated on having a school board awake to the best interests of the taxpayers and unemployed of their township, having by their efforts secured to grant of $12,800 from the C. W. A. headquarters at Harrisburg to be used for making improvements in the township.

Approximately sixty men have been at work this week at the twelve schools of the township repairing out-door buildings, painting the interior walls, making clothes presses and other badly needed improvements for the betterment of conditions for the teachers and pupils. One of the major projects planned by this enterprising board is the laying-out and grading an athletic field on the Locust Grove four-roomed school on Wiley Hill.

A request for an additional force of men has been sent to Beaver county authorities in order that the work may be expedited and the schools ready to open on Tuesday, January 2, following a week's vacation. The work is under the general supervision of R. E. Snyder and he is assisted by James Senor, Homer Forner and William B. Main, as foreman.

The three road supervisors of the township have also been applying through Frank Hart, Beaver county administrator for the approval of plans to improve a number of roads in the township and the work is expected to get under way again the first of January.

A grant of more than $4,000 has been made to members of the Wayne township school board by CWA authorities to be used in making improvements at the Park Gate school. The work planned at this school will include the grading of the lawn and making playgrounds. For some time motorists have been using part of the school lawn for a street and in order to stop this practice a stone wall will be built around the playgrounds. It is thought that the work will be started again the first of the week and will give employment to a large force of men.

Hunting Fatalities In State Are Lower

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Dec. 29.—Hunting fatalities in Pennsylvania, both during the small and the large game season, dropped sharply last fall as compared with 1932 figures, the game commission reported today.

Although the 1933 death toll is still tentative pending a final check of all accident reports, present figures show that only nine persons were killed during this year's deer season as compared with 19 during the deer season of 1932.

Fatalities Decrease.

A similar drop of 10 was noted in the comparison of small game season fatalities, the figures being 25 in 1933 and 35 in 1932.

The decrease in non-fatal accidents was so pronounced but present records for this year show drops over last year. Twenty-nine persons were injured in the 1933 deer season as compared with 34 last year. During the small game season, the non-fatal injuries were 206 in 1933 and 241 in 1932.

"Pennsylvania hunters are learning to be more careful," said Nelson E. Slaybaugh of the game commission. "The commission's unceasing use of the newspapers, the radio and personal lectures to warn hunters of the dangers of shooting at any movement in the woods is having a good effect."

AROUND CITY HALL

Prize fighting and politics are synonymous. You're up today and down tomorrow. A few years ago they were singing the praises of L. G. Genkinger and S. W. Treser. Along came the primaries and, well, both were defeated for reelection and their places will be filled by B. P. Butler and Joe Alexander, beginning Monday. It will not be the first time Genkinger has departed as a councilman. It will be the first time Treser has said farewell to that position. They served during several of the worst years the nation has known. However, they can take great pride in the knowledge that while they were councilmen they played an important role in developing the parks and playground systems and construction of the Croton avenue wall.

Who's going to man the police cruiser cars, when the police radio system is installed, the cars purchased and the chief of police blows the whistle for action? The "cops" who get those positions will have no joy ride. They will have to keep their earmuffs off and listen attentively for word from Police Headquarters which will be something like this: "Car No. 1, big fight in Moravia street" or "Car No. 2, burglar in house at number—Highland avenue" and perhaps, some day all three cruisers will be going helter-skelter on a big crime. It is sincerely hoped not.

John Moore, now a patrolman who is to be elevated to a city detective place effective January 1, is no baby in this line of work. He had his baptismal years and years ago. He worked two years in plain-clothes during the Newell administration, several during that of Mayor Barnes regime and also during the Dunlap reign. In all he has had eight years. He is known as "Dude". His father, the late Hazelton Moore was a police officer for years and at one time his brother, "Ernie" was a policeman at Midland, Pa.

In the anticipated revenue for 1934 Councilman Hoyland told councilman colleagues the city should realize $4,000 from rentals. The city rents several storerooms in the Washington street of the city building. Fifteen thousand other dollars are expected to come from such sources as police court receipts and licenses. Another $15,000, is expected to come from mercantile tax and evening from the record made by James Mayberry he will probably be kept on the collection job.

Street department appropriations heretofore have included $500 for traffic signs. The 1934 appropriation for traffic signs has been placed in the police department. The men who paint the streets are hired by the chief of police. The money for the signs will now be charged up to the police department.

During the making of the budget it developed that the donation of monies to volunteer fire companies is compulsory under state law. Last year the proposed gift of $450 was postponed and this year the amount was doubled. Not so long ago the volunteers and paid firemen were ordered paid about $16,000, received from the city treasurer from the state from tax on foreign fire insurance business here.

The city appropriated $250 for city planning commission for 1934. That sum was given because the planners from various cities will hold their state convention here. Matthew Gunton is head of the state organization.

Horse sense overheard by one of our scouts: "I won't knock a guy for doin' something if I have ever done that thing myself, so I don't get to knock much."
